

Mac Outpost Expands Training

Are You New To The World Of Macintosh?

Mac Outpost now offers three different ways to learn all the cool things your Mac can do. People learn better in different environments, so we have expanded our offerings to better serve your needs!

For those of you who enjoy the classroom setting, we continue to offer our monthly Saturday training sessions at the Radisson Hotel. This is a three hour training session held in one of the hotel's beautiful corporate board rooms. We teach only six people per session, which means you can bounce ideas off of each other, and perhaps generate a few questions you never thought to ask. This course runs one Saturday per month, and costs $150.

We now offer In-Home Training for the whole family. If you are tired of your kids rolling their eyes every time you ask them a question about your new Mac, then book an evening with us. Learn in the comfort of your own home, on your own computer. This two hour session can be booked most evenings, and costs $220.

Finally, if all you need is a few questions answered, then book an hour of one-on-one time at the store (after business hours preferred). We can answer those questions you may have about sending email, getting online, using your digital camera, and burning DVDs. A one hour sessions can be booked most evenings, and cost only $60.

The new Macs are more powerful then ever - Isn't it time you harnessed that power ?
